Venue: Auditorium Corridor

Total number of participants: 250

Event Report:

The Christmas celebration at, Karpaga Vinayaga Institute of Medical Sciences and Research Centre” aptly named "Santasio," was a resplendent affair that brought together the vibrant spirit of the festival and the academic community's unity. The event, conducted by student council of KIMS & RC illuminated the campus with joy, cultural richness, and a sense of togetherness.

The program commenced with Tamil thai vazhthu, in delight of our Tamil culture followed by various cultural performances showcasing the diverse talents of the medical students. Dance performances, skits, and musical renditions added a touch of artistic flair to the celebration.

The event for facilitated by our Principal, Vice principal and HOD of various departments. As the quotes says “May your Christmas be as sweet as this cake-the event ended with a cake cutting.

The college premises were adorned with Christmas trees, wreaths and other Christmas decor adding a visual treat to the surroundings. Traditional Christmas cakes and tea were served to all the participants. The greenery, decor and the twinkling lights further enhanced the festive ambiance.

As it is the season of joy and gifts various gifts were given to the children in our Paediatric ward by our Santas. The event concluded with a collective pledge to carry forward the spirit of Christmas – spreading joy, as it is rightly said to be the season of joy and gifts.
