CME ON “SEPSIS – A WORLDWIDE KILLER”

DATE: 26.08.2022

TOTAL NO. OF PARTICIPANTS: 105

ORGANIZED BY: Department of Microbiology, KIMS&RC

EVENT REPORT:

The Department of Microbiology, KIMS&RC organized CME on “Sepsis –A Worldwide Killer” on 26th August 2022 (Friday) from 8.30 Am - 12.45 PM at CME Hall, Lecture Hall Complex, Karpaga Vinayaga Institute of Medical Sciences & Research Centre. The objectives of this CME were to recognize the global burden Sepsis is a life-threatening organ dysfunction that results from the body’s response to infection.

It requires prompt recognition, appropriate antibiotics, careful hemodynamic support, and control of the source of infection. With the trend in management moving away from protocolized care in favor of appropriate usual care, an understanding of sepsis physiology and best practice guidelines is critical. The knowledge and skills gained will strengthen the diagnosis, treatment and prevention of Sepsis.

Around 105 delegates including Undergraduates & Postgraduates of various departments from our institution participated in the CME programme. The last session was followed by scientific discussion.
